Farmers, Read This.

We have been informed that it has been circulated over the county that we are not in the trade for Corn, Wheat, Rye, Oats, etc. We desire to contradict this report and say to our friends that we are in the market for ALL KINDS OF GRAIN and pay market value for same. We also wish to state in this connection that we will be in the market for New Wheat and, as heretofore, pay the highest market price. Please remember, also, we keep all kind of field seed, such as Clover, Timothy, Orchard Grass, Blue Grass, Cow Peas, Millet and Hungarian seed.
H. A. B. Marksburg & Son.

Local Notes.

Fred & Shragar have opened clothing, shoes, hats, caps, etc. in the Sweeney block at very low prices.

Mr Samuel Sutton and Miss Carrie Doolin, prominent in their section of the county, were married by Eld F M Tinder in this city.

The Union services will be held at the Baptist church next Sunday night, the sermon to be preached by Rev G P Simmons of Madison Institute.

Mr Thomas Barr, of Wilmore, who was injured by machinery during the fair, is up again and expresses his thanks for kind attentions during his affliction.

Eld F M Tinder is conducting a protracted meeting in Shelby county.
Eld G P Simmons, President of Madison Institute, will preach at the Christian church next Sunday.

Mr Malcolm Lackey, age 71, a brother of Mr D M Lackey, of this city, died near Parksville last Saturday.
Out of a family of eleven highly respectable and worthy brothers and sisters only two are left in the flesh.

Painful Injury.

Mrs Osee Huffman, of Louisville, who is visiting relatives here, fell on the pavement at Capt. Elkins, receiving painful, but not serious injuries. She has been in bed several days.

Court Day.

About an average crowd was in town Monday. Capt. Am Bourne, auctioneer reports sales and pigs from $15 to $35; cows and calves $27 to $38; plug horses $30 to $50; mules $125 to 190.
Advance in prices is expected.

Good Appointment.

The trustees of Lancaster Graded School have selected Miss Bettie Robinson, an experienced teacher of Campbellsville, to take the place of first assistant in the school. The faculty is now complete, and we have one of the best schools in the State.

Every man owes it to himself and his family to master a trade or profession. Read the display advertisement of the six Morse Schools of Telegraphy, in this issue and learn how easily a young man or lady may learn telegraphy and be assured a position.

Big Crowd at Crab Orchard Springs.
The Kentucky Press Association has drawn the largest crowd to Crab Orchard Springs assembled there since the war. The famous old resort is back where it belongs in the estimation of the people, and very deservedly so. The crowd will thin out this week and there will be ample accommodations for all.

Excessive Rains.

Very heavy and continuous rains have done damage in some parts of the county, and wheat in the shock was in danger of being spoiled, but it is hoped that we have had enough of sunshine to save it. The crops are all abundant, and the people of Garrard county should be thankful for the fertile soil, which always yields an abundant harvest.

It is believed that there will be no opposition to the ticket for City Council, which was recently announced.
They are all good business men and there is no reason why they should not be elected. A prominent business man suggested that we should not have a race, as the best interests of the people would be guarded by the Board which has been proposed.

Nicholasville Fair.

The Knights of Pythias, who have made such successes of recent fairs at Nicholasville, will give another of their enjoyable exhibitions in that city Aug 29, 30 and 31. Big premiums are offered and a royal good welcome awaits all who can go. The Nicholasville people are known far and wide for their hospitality, they are always glad to see you and let you know it.
Don't miss the fair.

Electioneering.

Miss Mittie Dunn, the beautiful and highly accomplished nominee of the Democratic party for Superintendent of Garrard county schools, is the first to canvass the county, having been over most of it already, meeting with much success and making her election sure. She presents her claims in a manner that would do credit to many who are older in the cause and who would do well to take lessons under her. It is believed that her work in the campaign will have an elevating influence on county politics.

Better Railroad Facilities.

A committee, consisting of John W Miller, R H Batson, W I Williams, J M Farra and W G Kemper went to Louisville to attempt to get better train service for this city. They could not get the train lately asked for, until some future time when the prospects of doing business to justify it, are better. They got a promise, however, of better connection at Stanford and better service with the day train, now on, by having it leave here soon afternoon, enabling passengers to get dinner before leaving, and to abandon the custom of pulling construction cars with it. An attempt will also be made to make the fare to Louisville by Winchester the same as by Stanford, enabling us to leave at 5 a m and reach the city at 11 a m.

Will Change to Saturday.

Beginning Saturday, August 5, I will change my dates and be in Lancaster Studio every Saturday. Will be there on Friday's until that date, but please remember the change. I am better equipped than ever to do the best of work, and know I can please you. Fox, the Photographer.

Marriage.

Judge W C Bell and Mrs Lizzie Thompson, one of the most beautiful prominent and popular ladies in this section of the State, were quietly married at the home of the bride, in Har-rodsburg, last week. They left for a bridal trip to the lakes. We heartily congratulate the Judge and realize the fact that his judgments are not only good on the bench but in other matters also, especially when he is able to convince the other party to the suit that his pleading was such as to prevent a demurrer, which he certainly would have overruled.

Colts. Wolford and Adams.

In 1865 Wolford announced himself a candidate for the Legislature on a platform of universal, complete and absolute amnesty. The district was composed of the counties of Casey and Russell, both of which together, had not sent a dozen men to the Southern army, and each of which had contributed a regiment to the Federal army.
His opponent was Silas Adams, the Lieutenant Colonel of the First Kentucky Cavalry, and the successor of Wolford of the famous regiment. He was a splendid fellow, a good lawyer, a fine orator, a knightly gentleman, the hope and the pride of the then infant Republican organization of the State.
When Stone man surrendered to Wheeler the First Kentucky was a part of the command. Adams rode up to his superior officer and demanded to know if he had surrendered. "Yes, answered Stoneman, there is nothing else to do." "By G—d," answered Adams, "I'll take the regiment out of here," and he did. For it Gen. Sherman complimented him in general order He had a splendid army record and had participated in 110 battles and actions. He was opposed to amnesty, as were a large majority of the district.
The opposing candidates held joint discussions in every school district of the two counties, and the welkin was vocal with fervid eloquence. On Saturday before the election, the following Monday an immense concourse gathered them at Liberty, the county seat of Casey, and Wolford spoke first and created great enthusiasm. Adams rose to reply, and after speaking a few minutes, turned to his competitor and said: "Gen. Wolford, you claim to be for complete and unconditional amnesty for unrepentant rebels. Now, sir, no dodging, tell the people if you are willing to discharge that archtraitor, Jeff Davis, from his prison quarters to Fortress Monroe?" Wolford rose and said: "I'll answer you, Col.
Adams, when your time is up." "I want an answer now," roared Adams.
There was not one single Southern sympathizer in that vast throng. It was a crowd of Union men, Union at all hazards, and without conditions.
They believed that secession was the sum of all villainies, and demanded that treason be made odious. His friends trembled for Wolford and feared that he was lost, however, he answered, and certainly lost if he took counsel of the heart rather than his head in the answer he should give.

But Wolford never wavered. Stepping to the front he thrilled friend and foe with these words: "Fellow citizens, I was at Buena Vista. I saw the battle lost and victory in the grasp of the brutal and accursed foe, I saw the favorite son of Harry of the West and my Colonel weltering in his blood. I saw death or captivity, worse than death, in store for every surviving Kentuckian on that gold field. Everything seemed hopeless, and was hopeless, when a Mississippi regiment with Jefferson Davis at its head, appeared on the scene, I see him now as he was then—the incarnation of battle, a thunderbolt of war, the apotheosis of victory, the avatar of rescue. He turned the tide, he snatched victory from defeat: his heroic hand wrote the words Buena Vista in letters of everlasting glory on our proud escut-cheon. I greeted him then a hero, my countryman, my brother and my rescuer. He is no less to this day, and I would strike the shackles from his aged limbs and make him as free as the vital air of heaven and clothe him with every right I enjoy had I the power. Put that in your pipe, Silas and smoke it."

The effect was electrical. Men cheered, laughed, wept. The sublime moral courage that thus bared his heart at the risk of political annihilation was not lost on that mountaineer assembly. Perhaps nowhere else could be found a community with more vivid appreciation of such moral heroism.
For one moment that crowd of stalwart mountaineers swayed. Then altogether—friend of amnesty and partisan of rigor—they sprang forward, and, taking the old scarred veteran on their shoulders, made a progress thro' the town, singing and cheering as they went. As for Adams, his speech was ruined. The following Monday Frank Wolford was elected and his majority was just 6. The tribute to Jefferson Davis elected him. In the Legislature he brought in a bill that restored Confederates to all the rights that the State had deprived them of during the war.—Savvyard.

NINA.

More rain fell here last week than has fallen in years.

The prospect for corn in this neighborhood is good; tobacco not so good.

up for several days with a sore eye, is much better now.

Mr and Mrs O P Tudor, of Hamilton, Ohio, are here on a visit to their parents, T E Wheeler and wife.

Misses Pike and Watson, of Brodhead were visitors at W T Watson's last Saturday and Sunday and attended church at Freedom.

W A Wheeler, who has been sick for some time is a great deal better at this writing, and it is hoped by his many friends that he will soon be restored to perfect health.

Ky., where he will hold a protracted meeting—he will be assisted by Rev E K Pike, of Wilmore.

James Hutching (known as big Jim) died at his home on Gilbert's Creek, Sunday, July 23,—he had been sick only a few days. He was buried at Preachersville. The family have our kindest sympathy.

Several from this place attended the fair at Crab Orchard, last week and report some preachers being there, but I suppose they did not preach to their congregation on Sunday from the text, "Shun the very appearance of evil."

Lost at Fair Ground.

A gold bar pin with star, crescent and pearls. Liberal reward for return to Miss Frankie Kauffman.

A Swiss Colony.

Shelby News.—At a meeting of the Shelbyville Commercial Club, held in the Council Chamber last Thursday evening, preliminary steps were taken looking toward the establishment of a colony of Swiss and German people in this county in the near future. The meeting was addressed by C M Lewis, president of the club, and Mr J C Bright, who recently made a trip to the Swiss colony near London, Ky.— Both gentlemen told of the many advantages to be obtained by a community from a colony of these people and of their thrift, honesty and neatness.
Mr Carl Hanser, a well known farmer of this county, who located a colony near London, told of the manner in which a colony could be secured and of what the people composing a colony would expect. A committee to make the necessary investigations was appointed another meeting will be held in the near future at which time books for a stock company to buy the land for a colony will probably be opened. From what was gathered by Messrs Lewis and Bright at London, a colony in this county would mean a big thing to the farmers and dairymen of the county and the merchants of Shelbyville, as the farmers and dairymen could secure reliable, competent help at a reasonable cost and the merchants would be benefited by furnishing the people of the colony with general merchandise, etc. Several local men, who are well to do financially, have signified their intention of backing the scheme and prospects for its establishment are very bright.

The W. C. T. U. Library will be open Tuesday nights at 8 to 9 o'clock and Saturday afternoons from 2:30 to 3:30 o'clock. Very attractive lot of bright, new books have just been received. Come and see them.
